ABOUT SHElettaMakesMeLaugh.com

SHElettaMakesMeLaugh.com started as an idea from Emmy award-winning comedian and radio host Sheletta Brundidge. While watching the local news one day, she suddenly realized there was a serious lack of diversity in Twin Cities media. She called up a few of her friends and created a multi-media online platform with seven weekly podcasts. With shows like JET Setting Divas, Life After Loss and The Teen Whisperer, the platform inspires and entertains legions of loyal listeners.

ATLANTA (AP) — When Tyler Perry talks, people listen and Sheletta Brundidge was one of those hanging on to every word.

Perry told the audience at the 2019 BET Awards that “while you’re fighting for a seat at the table, I’ll be down in Atlanta building my own.” Brundidge, a producer at WCCO Radio in Minneapolis and host of the Two Haute Mamas podcast, was listening.

When Perry — who received the Ultimate Icon Award that night — spoke, Brundidge said she “felt that in my toenails,” the Atlanta Journal-Constitution reported.

It was in Atlanta, during the She Podcasts conference this past October, where Brundidge learned to put it all together.

The result is the podcast platform SHEletta Makes Me Laugh. Among the podcasts are “The Teen Whisperer,” with Minneapolis-based counselor Jason Clopton; “J.E.T. Setting Divas,” with globe-trotting travelers Jeanette, Evette and Tina; and “Mommy & Me,” which Brundidge does with her 13-year-old son, Andrew.

Brundidge launched her new platform Feb. 1, in honor of Black History Month.

“We’re actually going to be making history in Black History Month and I’m so excited about that,” she told KARE-TV.
